

Programme

How to value ecosystem services provided from soil biota in arable land through the CAP?

An interactive workshop for EU stakeholders

Date: Tuesday, 27 February 2018, 10:00 - 15:30

Location: Representation of Lower Saxony to the European Union, Rue Montoyer 61, B-1000 Brussels

10:00 – 10:20: Mr Martin Potthoff, project coordinator, University of Göttingen, Germany:
Welcome and introduction into the BiodivERsA project SoilMan

10:20 – 10:40: Snapshots from participants on soil biodiversity and related agriculture management practices – creation of a word cloud

10:40 – 11:10: Mr Janne Bengtson, project member, University SLU, Sweden: Soil biodiversity as driver for multiple ecosystem services on cropland

11:10-12:30: 1st interactive session - groups to discuss selected aspects / needs

12:30 – 13:30: LUNCH BREAK - A light lunch will be offered

13:30 – 13:45: Ms Deborah Linsler, SoilMan research coordinator: Outcomes from the first year of SoilMan

13:45 – 14:30: Triad science – policy – practice:

Panel discussion starting with short statements

Mr Arwyn Jones, Project Leader, Joint Research Centre, Unit Land Resources

Ms Liisa Pietola, Chair of the Copa-Cogeca Working Party on Environment

Mr Angelo Innamorati, DG Agriculture, Unit Environment, climate change, forestry and bio-economy

Mr Markus Baldinger, Chairman of CEMA's Technical Board, Chief Technical Officer Pöttinger Landtechnik GmbH

14:30 – 15:15: 2nd interactive session – discussion with the audience about policy recommendations

15:15 – 15:30: Mr Martin Banse, Thünen Institute, Germany: Concluding remarks